

Join us for a Big Kickabout!

The Big Kickabout – a Scout day out is an exclusive Scouting event that no one will want to miss out on!

The Scout Association and CLIC – Cancer and Leukaemia in Childhood have teamed up to launch a new fundraising initiative, The Big Kickabout, to raise £100,000.

In addition, Craig Johnston will be bringing his 'Supaskills' team to the event to showcase the programme. Craig is the inventor of the Adidas Predator Football Boot, worn by David Beckham, and has developed 'Supaskills' to help budding footballers of all ages and skill levels to improve their game.

The day itself will 'kick off' with a fun mascots match featuring many wonderful characters from the football world, such as Jude the Cat, Moonchester and Captain Blade. Their comic antics on the pitch should certainly get everyone ready for the celebrity v legend match to follow.

Our new Chief Scout Peter Duncan is heading the celebrity team, with ex-Liverpool player Craig Johnston leading out the legends squad.

Sunday 22 May 2005

Where: The Big Kickabout will be held at Loftus Road Stadium, the home of QPR

Who: A special event for all members of the scout movement Scouts aged 6-25. Parents willing to attend in a supervisory role welcome too!

Cost: £8.99 ticket plus share of transport costs. Total cost £15

Interested? Reserve your place now by returning the slip below with £15 per person by 18 February 2005. Cheques payable to '1st north Springfield Scout Troop'

The day will include a great demonstration of this programme, when you can check out the activities and exercises involved.

More Info: see the websites
<http://www.scouts.org.uk/bigkickabout/index.html>
and
<http://www.supaskills.com/about/welcome.html>

Name:

..... would also like to attend as a parent

I enclose £ cheque [] cash []